Designer de Produto T-Shaped
UI/UX Specialist | Strategic Design & UX Engineer

Introduction

Hi, Douglas here. I am a creative entrepreneur passionate about technology, born and raised in Florianópolis, SC - Brazil, where I still live. Married and father of three. In my free time, I'm a father, a musician, poet, ethical hacker, and an informal technology consultant for friends and family.

A T-Shaped Designer with over 15 years of experience in UI/UX and development (UX Engineer). I combine strategic design, branding, and technology to create impactful digital products that connect users and businesses. I blend strategic design and technology to craft functional and innovative solutions.

My focus is on understanding the real needs of clients, delivering fast and impactful solutions, and ensuring design and technology work together to drive results. I don't believe design is just aesthetics — it's the union of form and function working in harmony.

Founder, Head design

The story of the studio goes back a long time. It is actually the result of what I learn and apply every day. In summary, at the studio, everything is done by hand because we believe that each project is unique. Our process always starts with a good conversation to truly understand the essence of your brand. Therefore, each project will have a unique approach. This is design! But it is also art.

Volunteer Experience

Art direction and graphic design for freelancers and self-employed professionals during the pandemic

This was one of the projects that lasted about 8 months during 2020, focused on helping freelancers and self-employed professionals across various sectors. I offered my help for free during the crisis, creating graphic art to promote services on social media and designing ads for paid campaigns on Google and Facebook.

"Why should you choose me?"

T-Shaped Designer with 15+ years of experience in UI/UX (web/app) and development (UX Engineer). I combine strategic design, branding, and technology to craft impactful digital products that connect users and businesses.

My Journey:

Throughout my career as a digital product designer, I've worked as a creative and multidisciplinary professional with over 15 years of experience in design, web development, and digital marketing. My portfolio includes over 600 delivered projects—ranging from websites, apps, and systems to e-commerce platforms—serving startups, freelancers, and businesses of all sizes.

My expertise spans Branding, UI/UX (Web and Mobile), Sales Funnels, and Digital Strategies. I'm also proficient with tools like Figma, Photoshop, Illustrator, Git, and technologies such as PHP, JavaScript, Node.js, React, and Python, as well as frameworks like Bootstrap and Next.js.

What I Do:

I blend strategic design and technology to create functional and innovative solutions. My specialties include:

- Product Design and UI/UX (Web and Mobile)
- Front-End Development (HTML5, CSS3, JS, React, Next.js)
- Audiovisual, Motion Design and Sound Design
- Marketing Strategies
- SEO & Traffic Management

I'm passionate about technology and design, constantly optimizing processes in both fields. In development, I create automations using Bash, Python, and Node.js scripts, optimize services with Docker/Kubernetes, and manage servers to streamline workflows and accelerate project timelines. In design, I've built custom tools to enhance my workflow, such as image libraries, content management solutions, and frameworks to ensure efficient and intuitive user interfaces.

My Approach:

I focus on understanding clients' real needs, delivering fast and impactful solutions, and ensuring design and technology work together to drive results.

I don't believe design is just about aesthetics—it's about form and function working hand in hand.

How I Work:

I embrace agile methodologies and apply principles like KISS, PDCA, SWOT, and Growth Hacking to ensure efficiency and scalable results. My skillset allows me to operate across various fronts, always focused on creating high-impact digital products.

Next steps

If you're looking for a professional who combines creativity, strategy, and technology to turn your ideas into real solutions, I'm ready to contribute to your team and elevate your projects to the next level.

Best regards,

Douglas Braga
